How to read the screen slides

Each screen slide states which specification items it proves

#18

Specification item

A green badge with the item number from the Technical Specification, its name and what the screen shows for it.

Demo

Demonstration only

Features deferred for the demo version (backup, DR, high availability, load testing, directory sign-in) are shown with this violet marker: laid out as in production, not functional.

sample

Sample value

Values inside a Demo panel are framed with a dashed border: they are illustrative, not measurements.

Three-tier architecture on BGB infrastructure

Items 1, 2, 30, 31, 36, 37: web client, application layer and relational database, each scalable

Presentation

Web application in Chrome, Edge or Firefox; desktop, tablet and phone; English and Bangla; installable app

React 19 · progressive web app (PWA)

Application

All business rules, permissions, workflow, audit, files, messaging and calls; secure REST API /api/v1

Node.js · Express 5 · 2+ servers behind a load balancer

Data

Incidents, history, audit trail and configuration; encrypted evidence and voice files

PostgreSQL primary + standby · central file storage

Supporting services

- HTTPS reverse proxy and load balancer
- Encrypted backups, DR site replica
- SMTP relay for e-mail notifications
- Directory sign-in (AD/LDAP)
- TURN relay for voice calls
- Offline map: served by BIRDS itself, no internet
- All components open source: no licence fees

Security in layers

Items 4, 24–29, 49: every layer protects the records on its own

Transport

HTTPS/TLS for all traffic; HSTS; strict security headers

Identity and sessions

bcrypt passwords, lockout, RS256 tokens held in memory, idle timeout, single session

Roles and scope

Permission matrix and unit scope checked by the server on every request

Records

Workflow rules, separation of duties; timeline, comments, messages and audit append-only in the database

Files

Content-type checks, size limits, virus-scan hook; AES-256-GCM at rest; SHA-256 per file

Audit

Hash-chained audit trail of every significant action, verified in one click

Technology and ownership

Items 30, 31, 51, 58: proven open-source components; full source code delivered to BGB

Layer	Component	Licence
Web application	React 19, Vite, Tailwind CSS	MIT
Maps and charts	Leaflet with OpenStreetMap data, Chart.js	BSD-2 / ODbL / MIT
Application server	Node.js 20 LTS, Express 5, Prisma	MIT / Apache-2.0
Database	PostgreSQL 16+	PostgreSQL licence
File storage	Local encrypted storage or S3-compatible (MinIO)	AGPL / Apache-2.0
Realtime and calls	WebSocket, WebRTC, coturn relay	Open standards / BSD

Complete source code, database schema, configuration and documentation are handed over (item 51). No licence fees, no vendor lock-in; any qualified team can maintain it.

Automated server test suite of 166 tests (authentication, permissions, workflow, evidence, audit, reports, messaging, calls); the API description is checked against the code.

Infrastructure BGB provides for the value additions

Annex B section 3: the 58 specified items do not depend on any of this

Feature	What is needed
Voice calls	A STUN/TURN relay server (e.g. coturn, open source) on a BGB server that all BIRDS users can reach, with UDP/TCP 3478 and TLS 5349 open between clients and that server; network bandwidth…
Push notifications and ringing call notifications while BIRDS is closed	Outbound HTTPS (port 443) from the BIRDS application server to the browser push services (Google, Mozilla, Apple), and internet/data connectivity on the receiving phones or computers.
Use on phones and tablets in the field (PWA, messaging, calls, push)	Secure mobile access from authorised devices to the BIRDS server (for example VPN or a private mobile network/APN), and BGB-authorised phones/tablets with a current browser (Android…
Progressive web app installation	An HTTPS certificate trusted by the devices: a public certificate, or BGB's internal certificate authority installed on every device (browsers install a PWA only from a trusted HTTPS…
Voice messages and group photos	Additional capacity on the central file storage and its backups, sized at deployment from the expected number of users and messages.
Realtime messaging and calls	WebSocket connections allowed through BGB's reverse proxy and firewall to the BIRDS address (configuration only; the supplier provides the settings).
E-mail notifications	An SMTP relay or mail account on BGB's mail system that BIRDS may send from (e-mail is one of the notification channels described under item 23; item 23 is met by the in-app…
